

The Washington Poison Center is looking a SPI or CSPI. This is a FULL-TIME position.

The Washington Poison Center (WAPC) is an AAPCC accredited center with a dedicated, well-trained and experienced staff. We are a stand-alone 501c3 corporation, contracted to the Washington State Department of Health.

Located in Seattle, WAPC is progressive in its public health outreach and involvement with the state regarding marijuana, opioids, nicotine, electronic dance music, and emergency preparedness. We have very low turnover, average staff retention is over 17 years, and 80% of SPIs are certified. We encourage professional development and provide SPIs opportunities to be involved in educational, outreach, research, and legislative activities beyond their core responsibilities. In addition, we support a Career Improvement Program that allows our SPIs to acquire and/or enhance their knowledge and skills in a particular area. We offer an attractive benefit package, including medical/dental/vision insurance, life insurance, long-term disability, holidays, sick leave, 401(k), flexible spending accounts for medical and childcare, and free parking. We also offer a competitive salary based on market comparison, skills and experience.

Do you want to live in the most beautiful place in America with easy access to world-class mountains, ski resorts, water, hiking, culture, amazing food and a gateway to the world? Did we mention mild summers and winters? Seattle, the largest city in the Pacific Northwest, has spectacular views of the Cascade Mountains to the east and the Olympic mountains to the west, and is consistently ranked in the top “Best Places to Live in the U.S.” If you would like to live in this beautiful city, then we want to talk with you!
